UCSF TODAY & TOMORROW

SAT.-FRI. MAY 7-20 VOL. 2 NO. 15 UC-SAN FRANCISCO

Honors & Awards

JULIUS H. COMROE, JR., Morris Herzstein Prof., Biol., CVRI; Prof. Phys., CPS: Recipient of the American College of Physicians Award. Dr. Comroe's "scientific contributions have profoundly influenced the practice of medicine, particularly in the fields of pulmonary disease and cardiology. Ranging broadly from basic science to clinical application his work is an elegant demonstration of the power of basic science in improving patient care and of the power of clinical observation in elucidating problems in basic science."

MARDI J. HOROWITZ, Prof. Psychr.; Dir., Psycho. Eval. & Study Cntr.: Recipient of the Strecker Award announced on May 3 at the meetings of the American Psychiatric Assoc. in Toronto. Formal presentation to be made in November. "Given to an American psychiatrist under the age of fifty who has made the greatest contribution to his field over the past years."

LOUIS K. DIAMOND, Adjt. Prof., Ped.; Res. Assoc., CRI: Recipient of the Goldenson-Weinstein Award in Wash., D.C. from the Cerebral Palsy Research and Educ. Found. Also has been selected as a Henry J. Kaiser Senior Fellow at Stanford Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sci. starting Sept., 1977.

LUAN ENG LIE-INJO, Res. Hematologist, G.W. Hooper Foundation: Will serve a second term as member of the Expert Panel on Abnormal Hemoglobins and Thalassemia of the International Committee for Standardization in Hematology (ICSH), an organization jointly sponsored by the World Health Organization and the International Society of Hematology.

SEYMOUR M. FARBER, VChancIr., Public Prog. & Cont. Ed.: Recipient of Doctor of Laws Degree from Pepperdine U. at ceremonies on May 7 on the Malibu campus.

Publications

IRVING R. MERRILL, Dir., CORT: Author of Chaps. 1-4 in Criteria for Planning the College and University Learning Resources Center. Association for Educ. Commun. & Technol. (1977). HAROLD A. DROB, Business Manager, CORT: Author of Chapter 5.

News Briefs

A Guggenheim Fellowship for 1977 has been awarded to Robert Allen, a first-year doctoral student at UCSF. The followship will support Allen's research into the Port Chicago disaster, an incident in 1944 near the end of World War II, when over 300 American sailors, both merchant seamen and naval enlistees, lost their lives in an explosion in an East Bay ammunitions depot. According to Allen, the incident has received insufficient attention from American scholars. Guggenheim Fellowships are awarded on the basis of "demonstrated accomplishments" in the past and "strong promise" for the future. This year the John Guggenheim Memorial Foundation awarded a total of $4,602,000 to 313 scholars, scientists and artists chosen from among 3,050 applicants throughout the U.S. and Canada.

Damage to the DNA of human cells may now be detected by a rapid, inexpensive test which may prove useful as a screening agent for substances in the environment that cause cancer. The test, developed by UCSF Professor of Microbiology and Radiology Robert B. Painter, was reported in a recent issue of Nature and has the advantage of using human cells rather than bacteria. It is currently thought that perhaps 85% of all cancers may be caused by substances found in our environment, Painter said in an interview, and there is a need for an inexpensive way to accurately screen for these potential carcinogens. Painter's test detects damage to DNA, the chemical carrier of genetic information, by measuring the rate at which cells synthesize DNA after exposure to suspected cancer-causing agents. The rate of synthesis slows down in cells with damaged DNA, and does not recover. Painter exposes a group of human cells to various agents which inhibit DNA synthesis. After removing the agent he measures the rate at which the cells are synthesizing DNA. This rapid, low cost test could be very useful as a screening agent for unknowns in the environment, Painter says. For example, one could take the concentrate from a smokestack, expose a group of cells to it, and measure their rate of DNA synthesis to determine if the substance were carcinogenic. Painter says that his test must first be compared with a wide range of known carcinogenic agents before it will actually be ready for practical use. The work was performed under the auspices of the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration.

Chosen to participate in a major presentation of the 1977 joint meeting of the American Psychiatric Association and the American Psychoanalytic Association held on May 2 in Toronto, Canada was a faculty group from the Psychotherapy Evaluation and Study Center, Langley Porter Institute of UCSF. Papers presented at the session on "Diagnosis and Treatment of Stress Response Syndromes" were based on work done under the guidance of Mardi J. Horowitz, Professor of Psychiatry and Director of the Psychotherapy Center. Dr. Horowitz discussed a contemporary theory of traumatization. This was followed by presentations by two staff members of the Psychotherapy Center. George Kaplan, Associate Clinical Professor at UCSF analyzed the general principles of brief treatment. Alan Z. Skolnikoff, Associate Clinical Professor at UCSF, examined ways in which personality differences color both the quality of response to serious life events and treatment interventions used in therapy. The program for this session included Carol C. Nadelson, and Mokah Notman, of the Department of Psychiatry at Harvard University. They discussed the importance of resocialization in the treatment of persons after rape and other serious life events. Adrianne Applegarth, Associate Clinical Professor at UCSF chaired the session.

A number of UCSF researchers presented papers at the joint meetings of Ambulatory Pediatric Association, Society for Pediatric Research and American Pediatric Society last month in San Francisco. Malcolm A. Holliday, Director, Children's Renal Center, presented findings from the first international conference on "Growth Retardation in Children with Kidney Disease." Calorie intake, with emphasis on controlled amounts of protein, is one of several key factors for growth in these children, reports Dr. Holliday, conference chairman. "Carefully measured amounts" of protein were of use to severely affected children while larger, more commonly used amounts "appear to inhibit growth" according to some reports. Kidney disease also appears to inhibit the action of the hormones, insulin and somatomedin (a growth promoting substance). In Congenital kidney and bladder defects 10 inches of growth are often lost in the first two years of life and never regained, states Dr. Holliday.

Richard Bland, Assistant Professor Pediatrics and a member of the CVRI reported a 92% survival rate for infants between 1-1/2 and 3 pounds who have respiratory failure from hyaline membrane disease. Dr. Bland and colleagues are able to keep infant air spaces open by using a new technique of mechanical ventilation that resembles the infant's own rapid breathing pattern.

Marjorie E. Tripp, fellow at CVRI reported that a new drug which UCSF researchers had found to be effective in newborn infants with congenital heart disease, may prove to be too risky for possible treatment of infants with lung diseases. The UCSF researchers have tested the drug Prostaglandin E-1 on laboratory lambs that had constriction of the lung blood vessels is likely to cause severe side effects of low blood pressure and finally, shock. Co-authors of Dr. Tripp are Michael A. Heymann, Associate Professor of Pediatrics and Abraham H. Rudolph, Professor at CVRI.

7 Saturday

Orthopaedic Grand Rounds. Morrissey Aud., St. Mary's Hosp. 8-9 a.m.

C.A.L. Tour: Victoriana: Introduction to San Francisco's Reviving Neighborhoods. Judith Waldhorn, instruc., Victorian architecture, UC Exten. & S.F. Comm. Col. For fee and registration information call x2019. 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

9 Monday

Practical Philosophy - The Esthetics: Esthetics and Morality. Chauncey D. Leake, Sr. Lec., Hist. Hlth. Sci. & Pharmacol. 664 S. Noon.

SFGH Briefs

Restoration of the Mission-style fountain in the new South parking lot at SFGH Medical Center is underway. A portion of the funds raised by the SFGH Memorabilia Committee is being used for this purpose. The new fountain will be a waterless one, beautified by flowering plants and landscaping around the base.

Passes for the new SFGH/UC Commute Club Shuttle at $20 a month, or single trip tickets at $1, are available from the SFGH Dean's Office, Rm. 2A-10. The bus is scheduled to make four morning trips and four evening trips weekdays between A.C. Transit Terminal and SFGH. It will take 42 regular users to make this service self-sufficient. Call Jane Vance or Ronie Green at 565-5042 for information.

Deadline for the next issue of Today/Tomorrow which will cover the events from May 21-June 3 will be May 10, 11 a.m. Please send your copy to Allen Balderson, News Services Department, 1475 4th Ave.
